

Bryan, Texas
Monday

Dear Mom;

I got your letter to-day, it seemed rather funny getting an answer so soon.

I don't think I'll be doing much visiting if they keep pushing us the way they have been. We have had one day off since we got here. I spent a few hours in town at the show but ~~came~~ came back to the field right away. It doesn't pay to play around on your free time, it's really the only time we have to rest.

We had our first checks yesterday, but instead of an ~~of~~ instructor riding with the student and telling him what to do, the student rides with the instructor and tells him what to do. The instructor then grocks the student on how well he explained and demonstrated the maneuvers. It was a lot of fun.

We had our first exam today, a little job of 50 questions, they gave us two hours to do it in. I guess I passed.

It's really queer about Jack isn't it. I wish the hell he would write something ~~definite~~ definite so we would know something for ~~the~~ sure.

Don't give up hope on your trip to Ohio you can probably get a hotel room or something and live like a body who's got dough!.

Love Charlie
